Local child care to be honored for promoting outstanding teacher education

On Friday, June 19, 2009, Phillips-Gwaltney Child Development Center in Spruce Pine, NC, will be honored for its outstanding support of staff education and professional development.

At Child Care Services Association's (CCSA) Annual Awards Celebration & Auction, the North Carolina Institute for Early Childhood Professional Development and the NC Division of Child Development along with CCSA will recognize Phillips-Gwaltney Child Development Center as one of 9 child care centers and family child care homes from throughout the state to be awarded the 2009 Professional Development Award.

Phillips-Gwaltney Child Development Center is located on the main campus of Mayland Community College. The Center has a 5-star rated license, the highest recognition of quality awarded by the NC Division of Child Development, and is nationally accredited through the National Association for the Education of Young Children. The center serves up to 117 children when at capacity.

The Professional Development Awards recognize exemplary early care and education programs that value and promote teacher education. This year, four- and five-star child care programs that earned high points for teacher education on their rated license on or before December 31, 2008, were eligible to apply.

Winners will receive a prize of $500 - $3,500, which can be used to help off-set the financial costs of supporting teacher education, provide an incentive or bonus reward for staff members who have completed coursework in early childhood education, or support the costs associated with other professional development opportunities.

The other centers and homes to be recognized for their commitment to teacher education are:
