Child Care in Gaston County

Did you know that...

• approximately 9,768 children under six in the county live in families where their sole parent or both parents are working? The need for child care is critical to the economic viability of these families.

• the county received and spent $6,224,070 in federal and state funds (not including Smart Start) to help parents pay for child care in fiscal year 2013? In November 2013, the county served 1,714 different children with child care subsidy and had 1,272 eligible children on the waiting list for subsidy.

• Gaston County has 125 licensed child care programs? Of these, 95 are centers and 30 are family child care homes. Of all the licensed programs in the county, 68% of the centers and 50% of homes have a 4 or 5 star rating. These businesses employ 700 people directly, and also contribute to the economy through purchases of goods and services provided by other businesses in their communities and state.

• there are 3,648 birth to five year old and 1,228 school-age children currently enrolled in these child care programs.

• among birth to five year old children enrolled in centers in Gaston County, 73% are in 4 or 5 star licensed centers. Among birth to five year old children enrolled in homes in Gaston County, 52% are in 4-5 star licensed homes.

• 61 teachers, directors and family child care providers living in Gaston County participated in the T.E.A.C.H. Early Childhood® Project in fiscal year 2013 with 30 child care programs supporting their employees returning to school through this scholarship program?

• using federal guidelines for setting subsidy payment rates and data from fiscal year 2012 market rate study, the 4-star center market rate for two year olds in Gaston County is $637 per month?

• most families in Gaston County cannot afford the full cost of child care? Low-income families and families with more than one child have to pay a high percentage of their income for care. A single mother with one child earning $34,669 or less per year can receive child care subsidy as funds are available. If funds are unavailable or if this parent’s earnings exceed the income eligibility limit, a parent would pay 22% of her gross income (see chart) for child care offered at the county rate. Little is left in the family’s budget for food, medical, clothing, travel or other basic living expenses. Due to the high cost of child care, parents often make difficult choices. Some may be forced to seek TANF. Others may seek cheaper, often inadequate child care or leave their children unattended.

© 2014 Child Care Services Association. Figures derived using the most recent available data from Child Care Services Association, Internal Revenue Service, N.C. Budget and Tax Center, N.C. Division of Child Development and Early Education and N.C. State Data Center and U.S. Census Bureau.

Updated December 2013